Kluger Kaplan Silverman Katzen & Levine Welcomes Litigator Drew Bruff

MIAMI, FL—Miami-based litigation firm Kluger Kaplan Silverman Katzen & Levine P.L., is once again bolstering its practice with the addition of a new attorney. Drew Bruff, who joins the firm as an associate, will focus his practice on complex commercial and business litigation. The newest addition marks Kluger Kaplan's fourth hire so far this year, as the firm continues to expand its litigation capabilities amidst Florida's economic growth.

Drew joins Kluger Kaplan from Wilson Elser LLP, in San Diego, California, where he was an associate in the complex litigation practice. Drew brings extensive experience handling complex commercial litigation from commencement through resolution, as well as creating and implementing legal strategies to mitigate anticipated and potential litigation risks for corporate clients. He also participated in the development of a program geared towards serving start-up and entrepreneurial clients. Previously, Drew worked as a staff attorney for the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta, Georgia.
